

New To English Lockdown Learning

Feelings and Emotions

How are you today? I hope you are feeling well and happy.

Videos

You could watch the videos more than once. You do not need to watch all of them.

If it helps, you could pause the videos and translate (Google Translate) the words into your home language to make sure you understand what each word means.

Sorry, some have adverts that you may have to skip to get to the correct video.

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=BXWNhq-IPD8>

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Cd2TcO7ZYP8> I'm feeling ... (blue = sad)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9iF3fnmuKjs> This teaches I, he & we as well as feelings. The thirsty action looks like he is ill with a sore throat! Thirsty = you need a drink.

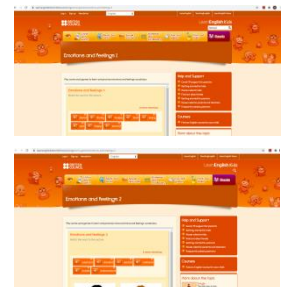

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=7uY2HrQ9qQ8> This has LOTS of different feelings and emotions - advanced.

There are lots of other videos to help, some are better than others! Please let me know if you find any good ones that you like. ☺

The links below have interactive activities - click on the word and the picture to match. You can click on the speaker symbol to hear the word in English.

<https://learnenglishkids.britishcouncil.org/word-games/emotions-and-feelings-1>

<https://learnenglishkids.britishcouncil.org/word-games/emotions-and-feelings-2>

There are some worksheets for this topic, they will be sent or given to you. You can copy the sentences into your workbook or print out the sheets.

You may find other videos or online activities to do to learn about feelings and emotions that you like better. You do not have to use what I have given you.

Please let us know if you find any other free links that would be helpful for other children to learn English. Thank you. ☺

Best wishes from Mrs. Ballard